

PRINCE ROGERS NELSON

Sun in Gemini
Moon in Pisces
Ascendant in Scorpio
Venus in Taurus
Mars in Aries
Mercury in Gemini

Sun in Gemini feels most alive through curiosity, exploration, and intelligence. Moon in Pisces has an emotional need for feeling at one with the flow of all life—receptive, intimate, not separate. Ascendant in Scorpio faces the world as someone reserved, cautious, and skilled in handling crisis. Venus in Taurus values sensual pleasures, stability, and comfort in relationships. Mars in Aries is motivated by a need for passion and vitality, and defends boundaries fiercely. Mercury in Gemini perceives the world through the lens of ideas, language, and principles.

Air and Water Dominant:

With air as the dominant element, there's a talent for big-picture thinking, diplomatic social skills, and innovative perspectives. With water as the dominant element, there's a talent for imagination, compassion, presence, and intuition.

No Elements Lacking:

With a range of planets in each element, there is a real capacity to live many lives and pursue many interests. Empathy is strong, and the only downside is a tendency to scatter your focus rather than concentrating on one core goal.
